| Litigation | Life Sciences | Automotive | Entertainment, Sports & Media

Eileen Hintz Rumfelt is a member in the firm's Litigation Practice and concentrates her practice in the area of complex commercial litigation with a special focus on intellectual property litigation and white collar crime and corporate investigations. She also regularly advises her colleagues and clients on the management of eDiscovery issues in commercial litigation. Ms. Rumfelt represents both large and small national, regional and international companies in a variety of industries, including pharmaceutical, consumer products, banking and insurance. Her intellectual property practice spans a wide range of disputes, including trademark and trade dress infringement, trademark dilution, patent infringement, false advertising and unfair competition. Eileen is the Immediate Past Chair of the Defense Research Institute's (DRI) Intellectual Property Litigation Committee and was the Chair of its 2016 seminar. She has regularly contributed to the American Bar Association's Criminal Litigation Committee's Practice Points. Ms. Rumfelt has practiced in federal and state courts across the country, before the Federal Circuit, and in the International Trade Commission.

Selected as a fellow of the Litigation Counsel of America, Eileen's fellowship in this trial lawyer honorary society composed of less than one-half of one percent of American lawyers is based upon excellence and accomplishment in litigation and superior ethical reputation.

Ms. Rumfelt is ranked in IAM Patent 1000, which reports that clients recognized her as "well versed in complex litigations." She is "respected and highly thought of" by peers in the field for her thought leadership when it comes to patent litigation issues, and is praised for being 'responsive, diligent and appropriately aggressive' when asserting her patrons' IP rights."

Before attending law school, Ms. Rumfelt worked in the field of public relations, focusing primarily on health education campaigns and pharmaceutical product launches.
