

Miller & Martin Professional Services Litigation attorneys have the experience, skill and knowledge to effectively manage professional liability matters. Our Professional Services Litigation Group understands the legal issues and responsibilities that legal, accounting and other professional service providers face in today's legal environment.

Our team has successfully defended professionals against a variety of liability claims involving accountant, legal, architectural and other service providers. Our goal is to quickly and effectively defeat these claims. In many cases, we are able to direct our efforts toward assisting our clients in avoiding claims ever being made.

Our team has a depth of experience in counseling and representing accounting firms in litigation against claims arising from audits, compilations and reviews, tax engagements, consulting engagements, breach of fiduciary obligation and fraud claims.

In addition, we have extensive experience in representing lawyers and firms in conjunction with claims of legal malpractice. Our team can provide services both in the pre- and post-filing phases of a possible or actual claim.
