Our Labor & Employment attorneys assist employers and individuals in navigating employment-related immigration matters when doing business in the U.S. and abroad.

Miller & Martin's immigration practice assists domestic and international corporations and businesses in developing strategies for the employment of foreign nationals. We also advise and assist with the following areas:

- Foreign nationals seeking to invest or do business in the U.S. in obtaining and maintaining immigration status
- Family immigration matters related to worker relocation
- Work visas for high tech professionals and executive managerial personnel
- Work visas for skilled technical workers and trainees
- Counsel U.S. employers on compliance with employment verification laws and regulations, and other issues relating to alien worker employment

We strive to assist our clients in meeting their business needs and goals through responsive and reliable service.
