Join us for a complimentary seminar hosted in-person at our Chattanooga office. RSVP Below.

This session is designed to help you encourage a culture of mutual respect in your workforce. Our guest speaker, Tangela Johnson, has been guiding employers of all sizes and several different industries in developing such a culture by focusing on the similarities and shared experiences of those in the workplace rather than highlighting differences and potential points of conflict. She will take us through a mutual respect encouragement session, so you can experience first-hand how it works.

*NOTE: This will not be a DEI presentation, but rather a workplace culture-building presentation.
