

Miller & Martin Chairman Delivers Insightful Interview on How Legal Community Pivoted Amid Pandemic

Posted in News on January 5, 2021

Scott Parrish, who recently completed his first year as chairman of Miller & Martin, reflected in a recent interview with the Hamilton County Herald on the many challenges and changes that occurred both locally and for the legal community at large amid the Covid-19 pandemic. Mr. Parrish discusses how his firm was able to successfully shift its workforce to mostly remote working and cut costs to avoid layoffs or furloughs. He discussed some court changes and web-based collaboration methods and efficiencies that worked well in the new world and might stick around for the legal industry after the pandemic is over.

Click here to read the full interview and insights from Scott Parrish in the Hamilton County Herald.