Attorney Jason McCarter and Cox Automotive Legal VP Co-Present Dos and Don’ts of AI in Contracting at 2025 Used Car Week Conference

Posted in Event on November 23, 2025

Miller & Martin Automotive Chair Jason McCarter, along with Cox Automotive’s Legal Vice President Matthew Phillippo, will co-present the breakout session “Cruise Control: The Dos and Don’ts of AI in Contracting” at the 2025 Used Car Week Conference in Las Vegas, Nevada on November 19, 2025 as part of the National Remarketing Conference track.

Using open-source artificial intelligence to generate, review, or process automotive forms and contracts can save upfront time and money, but it requires caution, especially in a regulated, high-liability industry like automotive remarketing. This session will cover how to use it responsibly and the pitfalls to avoid. Attendees will leave the session better prepared to leverage technology for the administrative and legal side of their business operations.

Used Car Week’s National Remarketing Conference Track provides a forum for analysis, education, and discussion, driving the wholesale auto industry forward. It focuses on business intelligence for vehicle consignors, brick-and-mortar auto auctions, online auctions, and technology and service providers.

To learn more about 2025 Used Car Week or register for the conference, visit usedcarweek.biz.