Gate City Bar Association to Honor Attorney Racquel McGee

Posted in News on November 2, 2026

Miller & Martin attorney Racquel McGee will receive the Gate City Bar Association's President's Award of Excellence at the Gate City Hall of Fame Gala on November 14, recognizing her outstanding service to the legal profession and the community. An executive board member since 2020, Ms. McGee also devotes substantial time to community and social justice initiatives through volunteer service and pro bono advocacy.

Ms. McGee's litigation practice focuses on intellectual property, contract, and business tort disputes. Looking beyond traditional litigation tactics, she provides strategic counsel on commercial matters to clients across a broad range of industries. She represents domestic and international companies in complex disputes involving business matters, entertainment and media, copyright and trademark infringement, patent infringement, trade secrets, general liability, and class actions. Her experience in the entertainment and media sectors gives her distinctive insight into the challenges posed by emerging technology and social media trends.

Before becoming an attorney, Ms. McGee worked in forensic psychology, with an emphasis on clinical assessment, therapeutic intervention, court advocacy, and reentry coordination.
