Scott Simmons Presents Employment Law Topics at 2026 TASBO Conference

Posted in Event on November 6, 2026

Miller & Martin Labor & Employment attorney Scott Simmons will present two sessions at the Tennessee Association of School Business Officials' 2026 TASBO Annual Conference on November 18 in Murfreesboro, TN.

Mr. Simmons's sessions, "Let's Stay Out of Trouble, Shall We? – Recent Trends from OSHA and the EEOC" and "HR Management Lessons from 'The Office,'" will give attendees practical, timely guidance on workplace compliance and people management.

The annual conference brings school business professionals together for valuable networking and professional growth. Participants benefit from expert-led sessions that offer current information on financial management, operations, and leadership.

Scott Simmons is a Member in Miller & Martin's Chattanooga office, where he focuses on labor and employment law, workplace safety, and alternative dispute resolution. He regularly counsels employers on wage-and-hour compliance, hiring, termination, and leave laws, and he defends workplace disputes before state and federal courts, the EEOC, OSHA, and the NLRB.
