

Miller & Martin's White Collar & Corporate Investigations team understands the consequences that can arise from criminal or regulatory investigations, enforcement actions, and whistleblower claims. Our team offers clients the advanced legal thinking that comes with decades of experience as judges and defense counsel in some of the most notable investigations and criminal proceedings in the Southeast.

Our group of attorneys leverages the firm's deep substantive knowledge of the legal and regulatory issues facing businesses in today's economy. The firm's resources give our team the knowledge and bench strength necessary to help client develop compliance programs to mitigate exposure. We also have a proven track record of effectively advising companies and individuals facing unexpected situations such as government investigations, search warrants, grand jury subpoenas, civil investigative demands, and other investigatory measures. When the government presses forward and fails to resolve matters out of court, our team is prepared to meet it with the collective experience of more than 200 jury trials.

The team has effectively guided clients from Europe, the Middle East and Asia involved in law enforcement actions in the United States, and has counseled American clients whose activities abroad have drawn the scrutiny of the United States government.

Our group works to minimize the day-to-day burdens associated with government investigations so our clients can focus their attention where it is most needed, running their businesses.

SELECTED EXPERIENCE

Defended vice-president of national transportation services company in federal criminal investigation and prosecution of alleged $50+ million wire fraud and mail fraud conspiracy relating to non-payment of customer discounts and rebates on diesel fuel purchases.

Represented telemedicine company and its founder in healthcare fraud and wire fraud investigation and prosecution, parallel civil investigation, and defense of related qui tam action under the False Claims Act ("FCA") involving allegations of $900 million prescription fraud.

Defended construction contractor in federal alien harboring prosecution and negotiated favorable plea agreement resulting in dismissal of one charge and exclusion of nearly $1 million in seized assets from forfeiture.

Engaged by nation's largest public utility to represent executive in Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Office of Inspector General ("OIG"), and Department of Justice ("DOJ") investigations regarding compliance with Atomic Energy Act and related nuclear power plant safety regulations, policies, and procedures. No criminal charges were filed, and the client was not cited for any regulatory violation.

Tried to acquittal a major criminal prosecution against a Fortune 500 company. United States v. Tyson Foods, Inc. was named by the National Law Journal as the "defense verdict of the year."

Represented construction contractor in Clean Water Act criminal investigation arising from major industrial fuel spill in the Tennessee River. No charges were filed against the client.

Defended healthcare providers, including hospitals, physician practices and nursing facilities in FCA and Stark Law investigations and litigation. This includes defending a major national skilled nursing facility in the largest qui tam action pending in the United States.

Conducted internal investigation and represented automotive parts manufacturer designated as a target in an industry-wide price-fixing investigation. No charges were filed against the client.

Represented Middle East-based military food supplier in procurement fraud investigation. No charges were filed against the client.

Defended numerous domestic and international clients in prosecutions involving allegations of securities fraud, bank fraud, tax fraud, bankruptcy fraud, immigration violations, money laundering, FDA violations, mail and wire fraud, public corruption and bribery and misappropriation of public funds.

Represented skilled nursing facilities, physician practices and a medical supply company in healthcare fraud investigations, none of which were pursued to indictment.

Represented an executive of a publicly-traded medical device company in internal and government investigations of Foreign Corrupt Practices Act ("FCPA") violations regarding the sale and marketing of products in Europe. Our representation resulted in no charges being filed against the client.

Represented construction and engineering firms in FCA investigations and litigation relating to work on nuclear facilities.

Engaged by utility equipment manufacturing company to represent human resources managers and staff in an internal investigation and criminal investigation conducted by the Department of Homeland Security arising from the nation's largest immigration raid. The representation resulted in a declination to prosecute any firm client.

Routinely assisted clients in responding to grand jury subpoenas and civil investigative demands arising from government investigations relating to a wide variety of conduct, including allegations of securities fraud, healthcare fraud, government procurement fraud and antitrust violations under the Sherman Act.

RELATED ATTORNEYS

Zac Greene, Chair
Roger Dickson
Billy Eiselstein
Kyle Eiselstein
Leah Gerbitz
Lynzi Archibald (Gruetzemacher)
Eileen Rumfelt
Peter J. Critikos III
Racquel McGee